The Rowan Tree Inn, approximately 0.5 acres of land which includes detached pub with two bars on the ground floor and a flat above. There is a substantial patio area and a large car park. It situated in a small cul-de-sac which is directly opposite a national Bookmakers.

Unserviced - £244,066

DESCRIPTION

The building is a former dwelling house which has been converted to a public house. The subjects comprise substantial two storey building with two extensions.

The public house is accessed by the main ground floor front entrance and there is a separate and self-contained rear entrance to the upper floor flat.

SITUATION

The plot is situated Mayfield which lies about 4 miles south of Dalkeith and 10 miles south east of Edinburgh City Centre.

The Rowan Tree Inn lies at the end of a small cul-de-sac which enters from the south side of Eskview Road which is one of the main routes through Mayfield. The public house appears to have originally occupied a much larger site but in the last ten years or so grounds have been sold off and developed for modern housing.
